My time working with Darian was always a blessing. While I wish I were still working alongside him, I am happy that he is looking for better opportunities for himself. Darian is without a doubt one of the hardest-working people I know. As a basketball coach and Sports Information Director, Darian was always working, even when the workday was over. I have always looked up to him for how much he works to better himself. Being a full-time student working toward his master's degree while simultaneously working full-time as a coach is something most people would never do. But to follow that up by continuing his education toward a doctoral degree is beyond impressive. Darian is someone who always makes work seem like it isn't work.

He makes the environment joyful and pleasant to be a part of. I have learned so much from working under Darian and alongside him. Whatever place chooses to hire Darian is making a great decision and gaining an employee who will work tirelessly to make himself and his environment a better place.
